

RECRUITMENT SCAMS

Take care to avoid fraudulent communications purporting to be on behalf of Carnarvon Petroleum Ltd. Find out what to do if you receive an email you think is fraudulent.

Recent incidents have occurred involving organisations falsely claiming to recruit on behalf of Carnarvon Petroleum. These organisations, claiming to work for Carnarvon Petroleum, notify individuals that their qualifications were found suitable to work as an employee (local or expatriate) for Carnarvon and solicit the transfer of significant sums of money to pay for work permits, insurance policies, etc.

Please note that Carnarvon Petroleum does not (nor do any of the organisations that recruit on our behalf) ever ask for money or payments from applicants at any point in the recruitment process.

Please note that these communications are fraudulent. They do not originate from Carnarvon Petroleum Ltd nor are they associated with Carnarvon's recruitment process.

Salient points of such communications are that they come from non-Carnarvon email addresses (e.g. from generic email accounts such as yahoo, gmail or hotmail etc.); the use of English is poor; and at some stage money is requested.

We recommend that you do not respond to unsolicited business propositions and/or offers from people with whom you are unfamiliar. Do not disclose your personal or financial details to anyone you do not know. If you receive such proposals, we would advise you to contact your local police station and provide them with all information you may have from the senders (email addresses, phone/fax details, etc.).
